On a dark night

It was a very dark night . Outside, a thunder storm was raiging. It was raining so hard that it was difficult to hear any other sound. Suddenly the lights went out. I fumbled around in the darkness trying to find candles and matchsticks. I called out, “Pluto! Where are you ?” but my dog was quiet. He neither barked nor did he whinper. In the flash of lighting, I tried to find my pet. I stumbled over mother’s favourite vase and my brother’s guitar in the darkness. Finally often knocking over a few more books, I found a candle. Now I needed match sticks to light the candle.

I made my way to the kitchen in darkness. I kept calling out to Pluto, I wondered where the dog had gone. Suddenly there was tunder and a flash of lighting, and with a loud crash the tree outside my toppled and fell on the main road blocking the route. By now I was very scared. I was unable to contact my parents was my brother. I did not know when they would be home. The silence of my usually playing dog worried me. lit the candle and decided to look for plu to . I kept calling out to my dog but in vain. I checked all the rooms but the dog was now where tube found identified to check in the bathroom.

As I stepped inside, the lights came on I saw my dog sleeping in one corner of the bathroom without any care for the world I called out to him. He opened his eyes and looked at me, irritated that I woke him up- from his peaceful Slumber, and fell asleep once more.
